

I would like for the Indiana's Telephone Privacy law to be left alone. I have not received very many unwanted phone call since I signed up for this service. I used to get on the average 3 to 4 calls (around 12 per week) a night through the week, and a couple on the weekend.

Therefore I believe the FCC should not implement the proposal (or any proposal) that would lessen Indiana's Telephone privacy protection laws.

The laws that Indiana currently have in place allow me to spend quality time at home with my family without useless interruptions.

Therefore I am not interested in adopting a National Standard. The standard Indiana has in place has been a blessing for me and my family.
